

Material - Kagami Website Disclaimer

This document outlines the disclaimer text presented to participants immediately before they begin their 10-minute chat interaction with the "Kagami" AI chatbot. The disclaimer appears on the Kagami web application after the participant is redirected from the initial Qualtrics survey.

1. Disclaimer Text

The following text is displayed to all participants, regardless of experimental condition:

Hi, I'm Kagami!

Welcome to Kagami Chat!

Just a heads up: this is a friendly chat with Kagami, your virtual chat companion.

Kagami will do their best to match your vibe and make you feel at home. This isn't real advice or a real service — it's just for fun and to help us learn how people experience AI conversations.

Everything you say stays private and will only be used for research in a safe, confidential way. You can leave whenever you like.

You will have 10 minutes to chat before the session ends automatically.

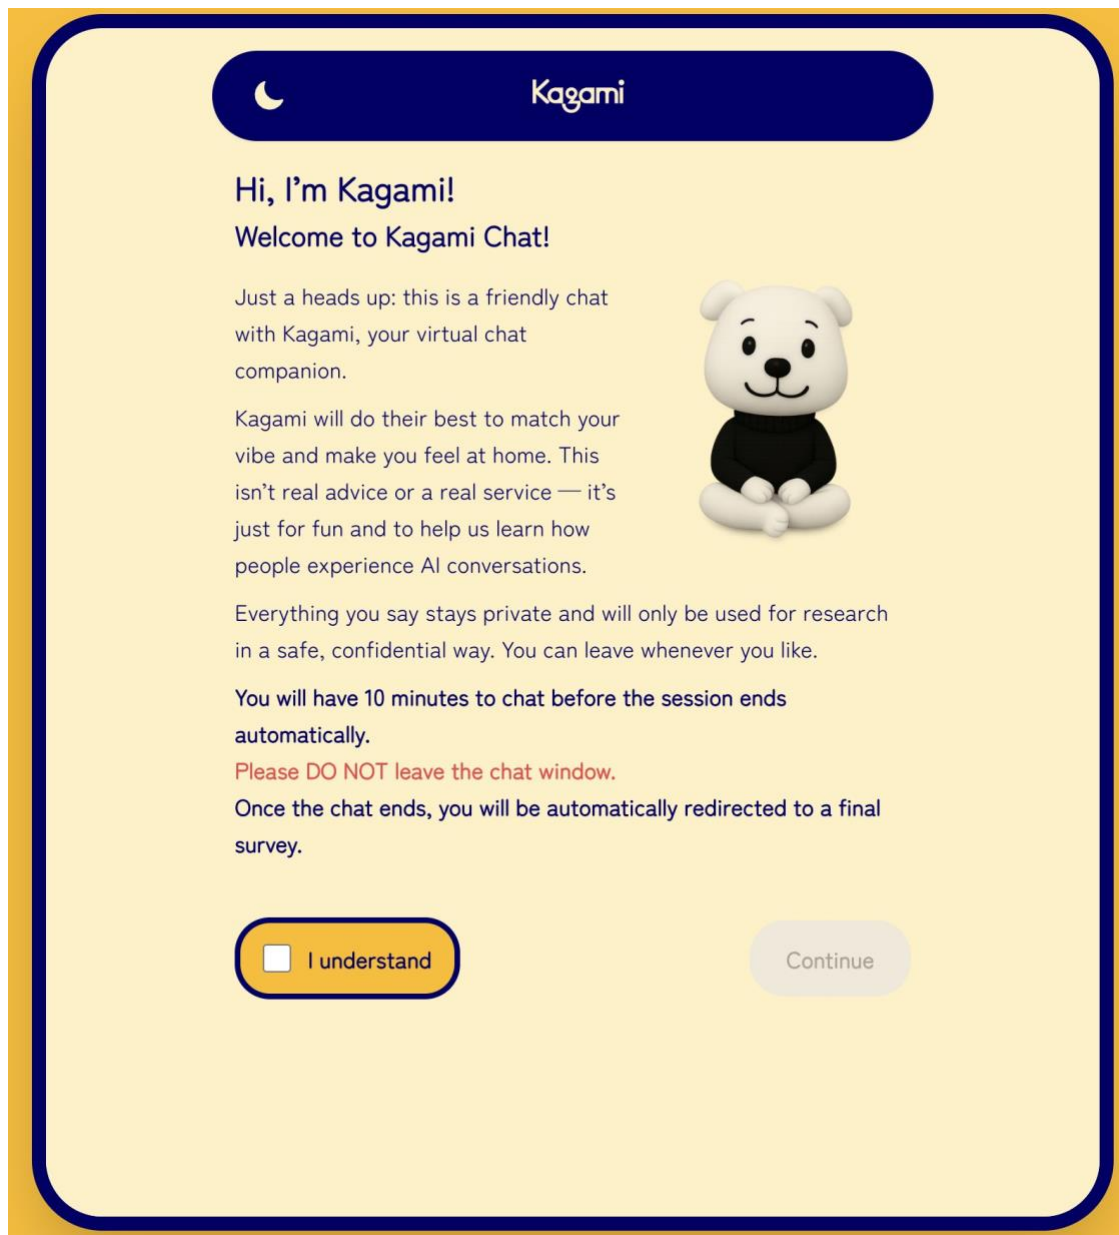

Please DO NOT leave this chat window.

Once the chat ends, you will be automatically redirected to a final survey.

2. Disclaimer Placement on Interface

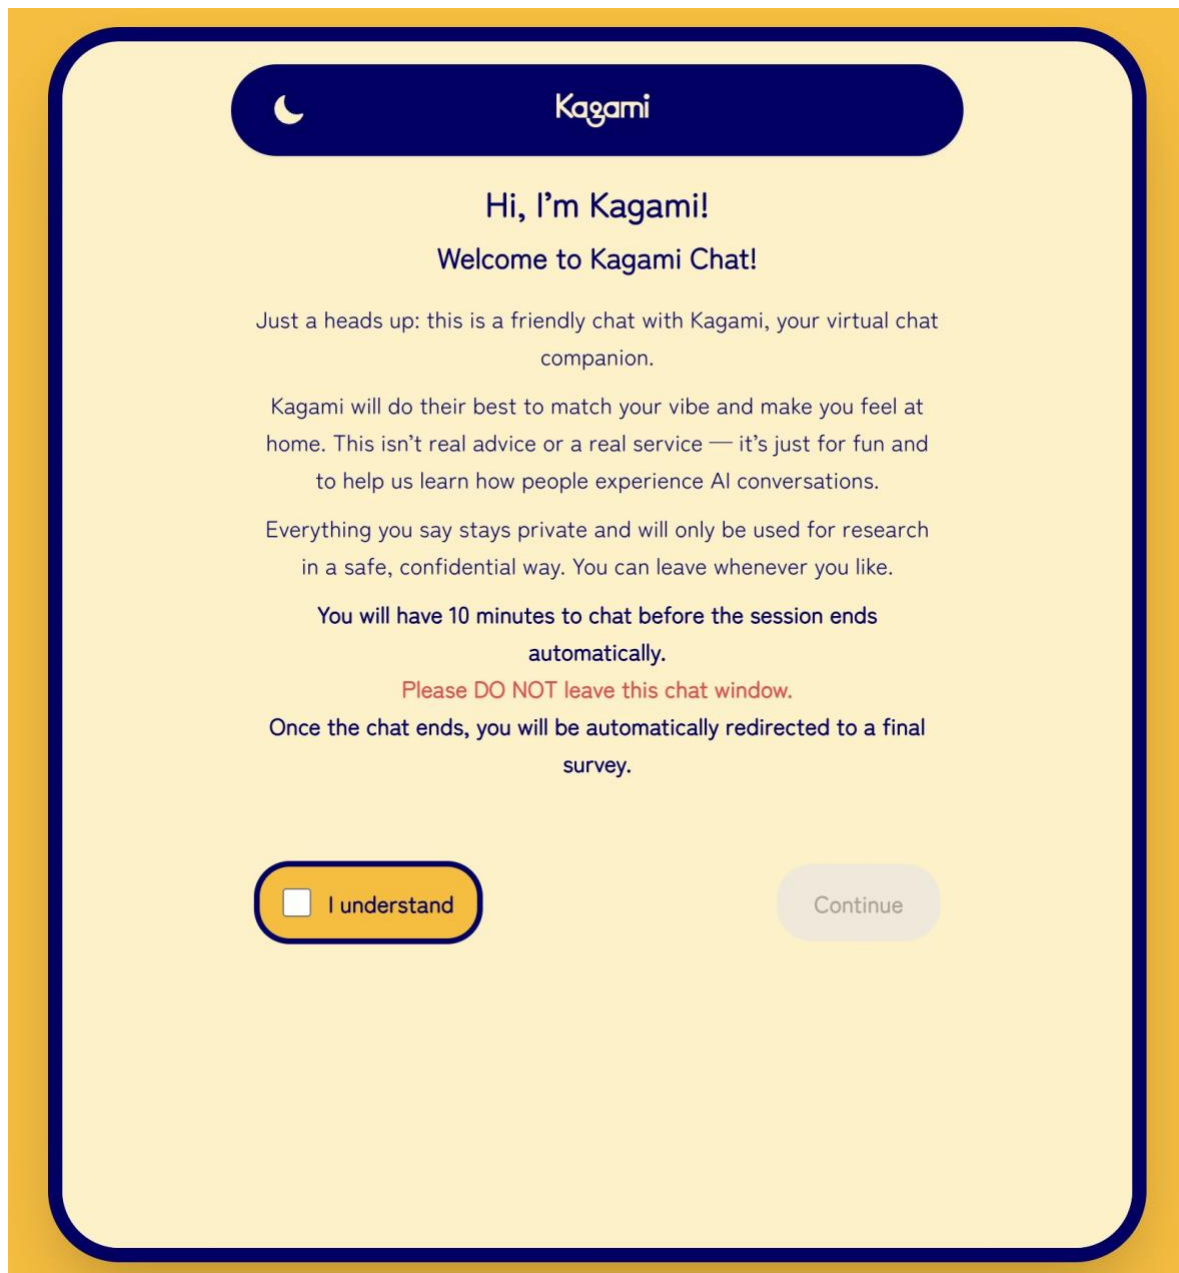

The disclaimer text is presented within the main interface of the Kagami web application. The layout adapts slightly depending on whether the participant is in a condition with a chatbot avatar.

2.1 Interface Screenshot (Avatar Present Condition)

Screenshot of the disclaimer as presented to participants in the "Select Premade Avatar" and "Generate Unique Avatar" conditions.

2.2 Interface Screenshot (No Avatar Condition)

Screenshot of the disclaimer as presented to participants in the "No Avatar" condition.